YOUNG HAYNES IS DISCHARGED

Was Arrested on a Serious
Charge Preferred by Mrs.
Sarah Harmon

THOUGHT TO BE INNOCENT

Accuser Agreed to Pay Costs in the Case—Officials Will Make Investigation

Frank Haynes, the young man who was arrested and placed in jail about two weeks ago, charged with an attempted assault on Mrs. Sarah Harmon of West Ninth street, was released from custody Saturday and returned to his home in Indianapolis. The case is a rather peculiar one inasmuch as his accuser, Mrs. Harmon, has been very solicitous in the last few days that the young man should go unpunished.

Shortly after Haynes' incarceration stories to the effect that the woman might have been "mistaken" about the attempt at assault, went the rounds, and a representative of this paper called on Mrs. Harmon at her home. There she "weakened" to a certain extent, saying that she would gladly pay the costs in the case if the authorities would discharge the young man. However she stuck to the main part of her first story, but there was a feeling of remorse over the fact that the fellow might be sentenced to serve a term of years in a prison. The same day she called on Deputy Prosecutor Newbold and told the same story. That official made a thorough investigation of the case and Saturday caused the young man to be discharged from the county jail.

Haynes is but twenty-two years old and came here as a fruit vender.

The matter is closed as far as the young man is concerned, but it is understood that the officials will take a "lead" from the case and institute further investigations.

Alaska's Size.

Drawn to the exact scale, Alaska, if placed on top of the United States, would reach from Savannah, Ga., to Los Angeles and from Mexico to Canada, and its range of climate and physical conditions are even greater. The strip of mainland and islands fronting the Pacific ocean are as warm in winter as Kansas. The arctic coast is colder than Duluth.—Fairbanks (Alaska) News.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The congregation of the Main Street Christian church accepted the nominating committee's report on the following officers Sunday morning: For elder, L. B. Downey; for deacons, P. A. Newhouse, O. G. Clark, Dr. D. H. Dean, Omer Pearson, W. O. Headlee, Jesse Drysdale, all of whom will serve for a term of three years.

CORN SCHOOL IN THE LIMELIGHT

District Meeting to be Held
Here is Given Much
Publicity

LARGE CROWD ASSURED

If School is a Success Here,
Work Will be Extended by University

The Sixth District Corn and Stock Judging School which will be held here the week of December 16-21, is being widely advertised through the columns of the district newspapers. T. A. Coleman, of this city, is chairman of the school, and is carrying on excellent publicity work.

The school is the first to be held outside of Purdue University, and will undoubtedly attract a large crowd. If successful here, the district school work will be extended to other parts of the State by the faculty of the Agriculture Experimental department of Purdue University, under whose auspices the meeting will be held in Rushville.

SHIPPING HOGS ON SUNDAY A NUISANCE

Such are The Reports Coming to
The Ears of City Council

There were several reports to the different members of the city council today concerning the loading of hogs for shipment in this city Sunday.

Members of the council said today that this is not the first report of law breaking on the part of stockbuyers and the matter would be acted upon by the grand jury.

It is claimed that this practice not only annoys residents near the railroad stock pens, but it is carried on while the churches of this city are congregated for worship and there will be steps taken to stop it, as some declare it to be a desecration of the Sabbath.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS STORY STARTS TOMORROW

The first chapters of "In the Fog," a serial story by Richard Harding Davis, will appear in Tuesday's Daily Republican. It is not a long serial story, but an intensely interesting one, and one of the highest priced continued stories ever published by a small city daily newspaper. The illustrations are by "Parker."

The board of directors of the Co-Operative Telephone company will meet tonight to transact business of special importance.

Owen and Bruce Carr were the guests of their cousin, Louis Gowdy, at Arlington Sunday.

SAY WHAT IS THE BABY'S NAME?

Board of Health will Prosecute
Physicians who Neglect Duty

MUST REPORT ALL BIRTHS

New Law Provides Penalty for Failure to Report and Will be Enforced

Indianapolis, Dec. 9.—The state board of health is threatening to prosecute physicians who fail to report births. The law provides a fine of from $10 to $50 for the first offense, and one of $50 to $100 for the second or third. Comparisons made by Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board, of death returns of infants with the birth returns developed the fact recently that the births of the infants had not been reported. This occurred in two instances. The deaths of both infants, which occurred recently, were reported, but Dr. Hurty found that the corresponding birth returns had never been received.

"The people, for their own good," said Dr. Hurty, "cannot learn too soon how important these records may be to them. Almost every day there is weeping in this office by people whom we are unable to furnish records of the birth of children for introduction in court. The records are needed throughout the state in proving heirship to property and similar matters that may be in dispute."

THREE MILLIONS IN RUSH COUNTY 1907

Such is the Official Report of the Bushes of Corn Raised
Here

The State Bureau of Statistics has made public its compilation of the 1907 yield of wheat and corn and its comparison with 1906 is interesting. Rush county had 58,548 acres of wheat which averaged 6.32 bushels to the acre.

Our corn average, as has been the rule for several years, was in the lead, having 67,214 acres which averaged 49.27 bushels to the acre. Over three million bushels of corn were raised in Rush county this year.

SOMEONE IS IN ERROR AS TO THE CORRECT SCORE

The Rushville Tigers, a foot ball organization, played at Knightstown Thanksgiving. On their return to this city they said they won with hands down by a handsome score. Last week's Knightstown Panner's report of the game tells a new story.

"The game between the Knightstown Shamrock Juniors and the Rushville Tigers Thanksgiving afternoon at Homedale Park demonstrated that a Tigers are not worthy the name, and all do not have claws. The local team walked away with their opponents by a score of 43-11."

COMMISSION IS GRANTED TO MORRISTOWN SCHOOL

The State Board of Education Friday afternoon issued an edict making the Morristown high school commissioned. Morristown in the future will have nine months term and two teachers with a regular and uniform course of study.

MINERS ATTACK ON ROOSEVELT

They Say There is no Need of Troops at Goldfield
Mines

APPEAL TO UNION LABOR

Miners Accept Operator's Challenge and Add Fuel to Flames
With a Statement

Denver, Col., Dec. 9.—The executive board of the Western Federation of Miners has issued the following statement concerning the present controversy between the Goldfield miners' association and the Goldfield miners' union:

"On Dec. 6 President Roosevelt issued a proclamation ordering federal troops to go to Goldfield, Nev., ostensibly for the purpose of protecting life and property. That there was ever any danger to personal property is emphatically denied by officers of Esmeralda county and by the merchants and citizens of Goldfield. The only reason for the present trouble was the decision of the mine operators to force upon the miners a scrip that would not be taken at par by the railroad companies, the Wells-Fargo Express company, the stores or the boarding houses. Neither would the mine owners agree to guarantee that they would redeem this scrip at any time in the future.

"In refusing to accept this worthless scrip in exchange for their hard labor, the miners of Goldfield are taking a manly stand against the usurpation of governmental functions by unreliable banking firms which assume the right to set aside the legal money of the nation.

"We desire to call attention of the American people to the disaster at Monongah, W. Va., where 500 coal miners were murdered by the capitalist system in its greed for profits. Had President Roosevelt been as anxious to enforce the mining laws of West Virginia; had he considered as well the protection of the lives of those miners by demanding that the mine owners safeguard their employees against unnecessary dangers as he is to send the regular army to crush an organization whose only aim is to better the conditions and make happier the lives of the working class, 500 blackened corpses would not today be laid upon the altar of greed at Monongah, W. Va., around which weep widowed wives and orphaned children.

"We protest against this action of President Roosevelt, knowing that he was animated by personal hatred against the Western Federation of Miners and its officers. The moving of troops on a peaceable community must be regarded at least as hasty and ill-advised, and we call upon the working class of the country to protest against this unwarranted and unprecedented action of mimic warfare."

LOCAL PLAYERS MAY MAKE A TOUR

Darkest Rushville Company will Have Early Production of "Pan Handle Pets"

"Darkest Rushville," a company of local players, banded together to give theatricals, are arranging their first offering, "Pan Handle Pete," for an early production at Ypsilanti hall. Ray Williams has been assigned the leading role and the comedy-drama will be produced under the efficient management of Harry Buckner. If the play meets with popular favor a short tour of the surrounding towns will be made.

THE WEATHER

Rain tonight, turning to snow Tuesday; much colder winds becoming high tonight.

STRIKE AT THE MADDEN & CO. FOUNDRY CONTINUES

The strike at the Madden & Company foundry continues, and Supt. Kelly says that under no circumstances will he discharge the foreigner whom the workmen objected to working with. However it is thought that it will not be necessary to call out the State Militia.

PLANNED HER OWN FUNERAL

Miss Odear Laid to Rest as She had Wished to Be

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Many Friends Follow Former
Rushville Teacher to Last Resting Place

The funeral services of Miss Alma Odear, which were held at the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, were very impressive, made so possibly, because the woman who was loved by all planned them before her death.

Rev. J. F. Cowling, pastor of the church, preached a very appropriate sermon from John 14: 1, 2, 3. Miss Ida Spurrier sang "Will There be any Stars in My Crown," a favorite hymn of Miss Odear, which she had requested sung. The old choir also sang, "Anywhere With Jesus," and "Grace Enough for Me," as she had planned.

The pall bearers whom she had selected to bear her remains to their last resting place were Harry Oryer, of Indianapolis, Prof. J. H. Scholl, Prof. A. E. Martin, Harvey Allen, J. L. Cowing and John Abercrombie. The following beautiful lines were read by Jesse Pugh:

"God bless you."
I seek in prayerful words, dear friends,
My heart's true wish to send you,
That you may know that far or near
My loving tho'ts attend you.
I cannot find a ruer word
Nor fonder to caress you;
Nor song nor poem have heard,
Is sweeter than "God bless you."
"God bless you!"
So I've wished you all of brightness
Life possesses,
For can here any joy at all be thine
unless God blesses?
God bless you!
So breathe a charm,
Lest grief's dark night oppress you,
For how can sorrow bring you harm,
If 'tis God's will to bless you?

CANDIDATES FOR ROAD SUPERVISORS ANXIOUS

As Time Draws Near for Election to Be Held Next
Saturday

The election of road supervisors will take place on next Saturday, and as the time draws near candidates are becoming anxious as the law gives them an increase in salary.

The elections of Rushville township will be held as follows: District No. 1, at Buell's school house; district No. 2, at school house No. 9; district No. 3, at school house No. 10; and district No. 4 will be held at school No. 4, Circleville.

"Johnny," said his grandfather, "you linger too long at the table. I don't hurry with my meals, and yet I finish my dinner before you have half finished yours."

"Huh," exclaimed Johnny, with his mouth full. "You've had sixty years' more practice in eatin' than I have."

WIFE PLEAD TO BE DIVORCED

From Man she Loved Because
He Would not Maintain
Her

JUDGE GRANTED DIVORCE

Case Was Venued to Rush Circuit
Court From Henry
County

The divorce suit of Pearl Leon vs. Henry Leon venued from Henry county was tried Saturday evening before Judge Sparks. The plaintiff who bore the marks of a remarkably intelligent woman, charged her husband with non-maintenance.

The story of their brief wedded life is interesting and pathetic. She met him first in Muncie. Although he was a Jew and she a Gentile, with widely different opinions on religious matters, yet they soon formed an acquaintance, which led them to Hymen's altar.

Shortly after the marriage the wife who loved him found that he was a confirmed gambler and plead with him to for sake his evil ways. It was of no avail and finally when she could no longer endure the life, she left him.

The father of Mrs. Leon told her that he had been gambling since he was thirteen years of age and was a hopeless case. He also told the plaintiff that the sooner she was rid of him, the better off she would be.

The court granted her a divorce enjoining her not to marry again for two years.

IS THERE A BLIND TIGER AT LARGE?

Grand Jury Making a Special
Investigation at Court
House Today

A special session of the grand jury was called today by Judge Sparks. Prosecutor Hack of Shelbyville, was here and assisted Deputy Prosecutor Newbold in making some timely investigations before the grand jury.

A number of Carthage people were before the jury and it is likely that the officials are looking into some alleged Blind Tiger violations.

VERY FEW PEOPLE ARE NOW IN WANT

Township Trustee Issued Only
Seventeen Poor Orders in Two Months

During the last two months Rushville township has been called upon to pay seventeen poor orders. These were for clothing and provisions. During that time a few requests for coal and wood have been made. The township trustee, Ed Crosby, could very easily run the accounts to larger amounts, but he is discreet in issuing the necessary blanks. Only those who are an actual need are supplied.

The winter has found the majority pretty well fixed, but a few weeks of this kind of weather will increase the demands for assistance.

The residence of Gus Smith at Arlington caught fire yesterday and did about $200 worth of damage before the flames were extinguished.

Special Judge Broadus, of Connersville, was here today making up issues in the case of Kendall vs. Kendall.

HIS HEART BROKEN

Good King Oscar Never Recovered From Blow Caused by Split in Kingdom.

A NOTABLE FIGURE GONE

Death of Sweden's Aged Ruler Removes One of Europe's Most Conspicuous Sovereigns.

Recent Separation of Norway and Sweden No Doubt a Contributing Factor to His Death.

Stockholm, Dec. 9.—Oscar II., King of Sweden, died at 9:10 o'clock Sunday morning, aged seventy-eight years, nine months and seventeen days. The death of the monarch occurred in the royal apartment of the palace, where, surrounded by the members of his family, including the queen, Sophia, and the crown prince, Oscar Gustave, and high ministers of state, the inevitable end had been awaited, while outside the palace great crowds stood with bowed heads and tearful eyes long after the announcement came of the death of their beloved sovereign.

KING OSCAR II.

Their hearts filled with grief, for Oscar was something more than a ruler to his people, and had endeared himself to them as intimate and personal friends. When the flag on the palace was dropped to half-mast there was a moan of anguish from the assembled multitude and many of them cried "Our dear old king is dead."

The succession to the throne of Sweden now passes to Oscar Gustave Adolphe, Prince of Vermland, the oldest son of the late king. At a meeting of the council of state Sunday afternoon, the new king took the oath of allegiance under the title of Gustave V., and adopted the motto "With the People for the Fatherland." The princes then took the oath of allegiance and the new monarch accepted the homage of the state officials.

The death of King Oscar is not expected to be followed by any serious disturbance of Sweden's political condition. The venerable monarch had been slowly failing for many months past, and last January he experienced an illness that at the time was expected to end fatally. All precautions had been taken for the orderly passage of the throne into the hands of his son and successor.

King Oscar had long been one of the most interesting figures of European royalty, his descent from Napoleon's great field marshal, Bernadotte, his gigantic stature and his family connection with many of the other great houses of Europe, combining to give him an interesting personality. His truly Democratic habits had made him idolized by his subjects, who regarded him more as a father than a monarch.

Under King Oscar Sweden's stability and progress have been uniform until the events culminating in the recent separation of Sweden and Norway. The final success of the separation was a grievous blow to the aged king. Both his pride and heart were wounded and his constant brooding over this unhappy event doubtless contributed to his death. Indeed, the doctors' final diagnosis that his heart was affected, appears to give color to the earlier reports that he was slowly dying of a broken heart. Politically, however, neither Sweden nor Norway is likely to be disturbed by King Oscar's demise, since each has now adjusted itself to the new order of affairs and the change of monarchs may ameliorate the relations between Sweden and Norway, as the new king's son, who now becomes crown prince, is united by marriage to the queen of Norway. The new King Gustave much resembles his father in gigantic stature and in light Saxon blonde features. The young monarch is not unused to the cares of state, as he has frequently acted as regent during the illness and absence of his father and has displayed good sense and ability. He is personally much liked at Stockholm and at other capitals, where he is regarded as having his father's characteristics of sincerity and sympathy.

Oscar II., king of Sweden and Norway, was born Jan. 21, 1829. He was the third son of King Oscar and of Queen Josephine, daughter of Prince Eugene of Leuchtenberg and a grandson of Marshal Bernadotte. Oscar II. succeeded to the throne on the death of his brother, King Carl XV., Sept. 18, 1872. He was married June 6, 1857, to Queen Sophia, born July 9, 1836, daughter of the late Duke William Nassau. Four children survive. King Oscar was called the ablest scholar of the nineteenth century and the most democratic king that ever lived. He never made an attempt to conceal the humble origin of his family, and whenever he traveled to the south of France he made it a point to visit the little house at Pau where his grandfather was born. A tablet over the door of the little one-story house bears this inscription:

"The peasant, Charles Bernadotte, who subsequently rose to be field marshal of France and ultimately King Charles XIV. of Sweden and Norway, was born in this cottage in 1763."

In appearance, however, King Oscar was every inch a king and there is no sovereign in Europe who was more stately and more regal in bearing than was he. His eyes were blue, distinctive of his race, and were commanding but kindly. The late king was distinguished in his philosophy, having received degrees from so many universities of Europe that he may fairly be called, so far as degrees indicate, the most learned man in Europe. He was an author, a translator, a learned man in political economy and the science of government, a musician and historian and a playwright. All the great masterpieces of literature, historical, philosophical and religious, he had translated into Swedish. His latest novel, the one which had become the most widely known of his works of fiction, deals with the rise of his own family of Bernadotte and the succession to the throne of Sweden of his grandfather, Marshal Bernadotte.

DEATH LIST 400

This Is the Latest Estimate on Great Monongah Disaster.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 9.—But fifty-three bodies had been recovered from mines Nos. 6 and 8 of the Fairmont Coal company when darkness closed over the little town of Monongah last night. Fifty-six hours had elapsed since the awful explosion, and the majority of the bodies brought to the surface were in a terrible condition, necessitating almost immediate burial. It is now believed that the number of dead will not be over 400.

A thorough investigation was made by the company Sunday, and it was discovered that many miners believed to have been entombed escaped because they had not gone to work Friday, after Thursday's holiday. A score or more of these men have reported to the officials.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon fire broke out again in mine No. 8 and the rescuers were at once ordered to the surface. Thousands of sightseers from the surrounding towns had gathered about the openings. Through megaphones the crowds were notified of the fire and the danger of another explosion, but they refused to leave and it was with great difficulty that the special police assisted, by many miners, forced these people to places of safety.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT

Order Will Be Maintained at Hopkinsville at Point of Bayonet.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 9.—Governor Beckham at the request of Mayor Meacham and County Judge Breathitt, ordered the local company of Kentucky state guards to report to the sheriff for indefinite duty during the night riders' trouble.

The local officials believe that they will be able by an order of protection to secure witnesses who can positively identify members of the mob of "night riders" that, masked and heavily armed, marched into Hopkinsville and destroyed property valued at over $200,000, while the citizens, in terror of their lives, feared to even so much as open their windows.

The police, fire department, telegraph and telephone offices, and even the railroad station, were in possession of a wild mob, shooting right and left. The flames from burning buildings in the meanwhile lighted up the city and the surrounding county until it seemed that the whole town was ablaze.

Windows in the front of business houses and banks on the main street of the city were shot out and the entire front of one newspaper which had been especially severe in its condemnation of the raids of the night riders and which was owned by the mayor of the city, was demolished. The raid of the night riders caught the city unawares. For some time the depredations resulting from the tobacco war had been of a minor nature, and it was generally thought that in the "dark district" at least, the worst was over.

STATE NEWS

MAYOR STARTS GAS WAR

Boehne Proposes to Fight Company at Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 9.—Mayor Boehne, backed up by the Retail Merchants' association, is in a hot fight with the gas and electric light company. Gas is of such poor quality at $1.10 rate that cooking with it is next to impossible. The electric current is insufficient and consumers are refusing service and using coal oil lamps.

Spurred to action by the avalanche of complaints, many of them stating that gas bills have doubled and tripled within the past few months, with gas growing poorer in quality daily, the mayor and merchants have started the fight.

The gas company has a plant valued at $500,000 and carrying an indebtedness of $1,200,000. It is controlled by the Weldener syndicate of Philadelphia. The franchise has no conditions, as it was a "grab" and made under a former council.

The remedy suggested by the mayor is a municipal light plant. The citizens generally and the merchants in particular are in a humor to go to almost any extreme to get good lights. The merchants will hold a mass meeting soon to review the question.

Want Law Interpreted.

Indianapolis, Dec. 9.—Because of a difference of opinion in construing the new law fixing teachers' qualifications and teachers' salaries, the state board of education before adjourning its December session decided to ask an opinion from Attorney General James Bingham as to just what pay a teacher of more than three years' experience is entitled to. Some of the members of the board held that under the new law a teacher of more than three years' experience will not be entitled to the maximum wage unless the teacher has a three years' license or its equivalent, and that a teacher of one year's experience shall not be entitled to 3 cents a day on his general average of scholarship unless he has a two years' license. Other members of the board believe that the scale of wages should be based on experience regardless of the license. The difference of opinion arises from the section of the law relating to beginning teachers.

Now in Receiver's Hands.

Elkhart, Ind., Dec. 9.—Upon the petition of Adelbert A. Adams of Plymouth Judge VanFleet of the superior court appointed a receiver for the Horsemen's Mutual insurance company of this city. The company's liabilities are listed at $7,000 and the assets at $500. The organization of the insurance concern was perfected in August, 1906, and the original incorporators were all from this place. The stated purpose of the company is to insure horses, cattle and all other livestock from death by disease or accident and against theft. The face of the policies now in force is said to aggregate over $500,000.

Farmers Up in Arms.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 9.—Because the town board of Silver Lake, this county, passed an ordinance to extend the town limits to a square mile, farmers on three sides are rebellious and threatened County Surveyor S. Blue, who made the new measurements. They charge that the town board made the move because the corporation is after the money that would be derived from taxes on the additional property.

GET RICH QUICK.

Schemes of this class have again come to grief along with the gullible investors, causing serious loss to innocent business concerns, as is always the case of panics in Wall St. While this last lesson is yet fresh in mind, it is an opportune moment to consider causes and means to avoid like trouble in the future.

There are no "crooked roulette wheels" in practical use and for two reasons:
First.—They can't be made.
Second.—There is no need of them. The man who can get other men in any considerable numbers to play their money at his roulette wheel doesn't need any meretricious ace in the hole. He can't lose, and he knows it.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

THE DAY IS SET

Republican National Convention
to Be Held In Chicago
June 16, Next.

OFFICIAL CALL ISSUED

Chairman New and Secretary Dover
Send Out Word to Expectant Hosts of Coming Big Meeting.

Chicago Is Preparing to Entertain
One of Greatest Crowds Ever Assembled In This Country.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The official call for the Republican national convention, to be held in Chicago on June 16 next, has been issued by Chairman Harry S. New and Secretary Elmer Dover of the Republican national committee. The convention will be held for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president to be voted for at the presidential election Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1908, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it, and will consist of four delegates-at-large from each state, two delegates for each representative-at-large in the congress, two delegates from each congressional district, and from each of the territories of Arizona, New Mexico and Hawaii, two delegates from the District of Columbia, and two delegates each from Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. For each delegate elected to this convention, an alternate delegate will be chosen to serve in case of the absence of his principal.

FIXING FOR BIG CROWD

Chicago Starts in to Enlarge Its Coliseum.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Delegates to the national Republican convention will find the Coliseum, the big hall where the 1904 gathering of the party was held, improved and enlarged. As soon as word was received in Chicago Saturday that the national committee had selected this city for the convention, engineers and architects were told to go ahead with tentative plans for alterations that have been under consideration, and as a result the big structure will be remodeled so as to seat 15,000 persons, 3,000 more than the minimum requirement of the party leaders.

The building is unique, not only for its great seating capacity, but also for its light and acoustic properties and ventilation. At the south end of the Coliseum proper is an annex of two floors either one of which is large enough to accommodate all the delegates. The upper hall of these two has galleries under the east and west ends, beneath which are rooms which may be used for committee work.

The Coliseum is easily accessible to transportation lines and is within walking distance of all the principal hotels in the downtown district. Few such buildings have equal ventilation arrangements. The lake is less than four blocks away and the interior is cool on the hottest days of summer.

The construction of the building accounts for its unusual acoustic properties. Walls and roof of concrete and iron minimize vibration and banish the slightest suspicion of an echo. The structure is, of course, fireproof and emergency exits allow it to be emptied in six minutes. The Coliseum was completed in 1900 at a cost of $500,000. Another $50,000 has been spent on an electric lighting plant which furnishes illumination for thousands of globes.

WANT AN EARLY START

Democrats Favor Holding National Convention First Week in June.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The Democratic national committee will meet at the Arlington in this city next Thursday at noon for the purpose of selecting the place at which and the time when the national Democratic convention shall meet next summer. Colonel John I. Martin of Missouri, the veteran sergeant-at-arms, is already in the city, making preparations for the meeting. Several places, including Chicago, Kansas City, Louisville, Denver and Atlantic City, have been mentioned as candidates for the location, and the 2nd of June is now spoken of as the most probable date of the convention. A number of the members of the committee have expressed the opinion that it is desirable that the Democratic convention should be held in advance of the Republican, and they generally advocate June 2.

Will Try to Reopen Mines.

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 9.—It is said that the mine owners' association will make an attempt during the week to reopen the mines here with non-union men, and every indication points to the fact that Wednesday has been decided on as the day when the attempt will be made to put men in the mines. If there is to be a clash between the members of the Western Federation of Miners and the federal soldiers it will come at that time. There are now nine companies of troops here.

Huntsman Accidentally Killed.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 9.—Anton Blair, aged sixteen, was hunting and in trying to drag his gun through a fence was shot and died in a short time.

A Cold-Blooded Crime.

Iola, Kan., Dec. 9.—William Stewart, proprietor of a restaurant and member of a prominent family, was brutally murdered at an early hour Sunday morning. W. D. Creviston, Stewart's partner, has confessed that he killed Stewart. Creviston declares that he killed Stewart because he loved Stewart's wife and wanted to marry her. Mrs. Stewart was arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband.

Jews Returning to Europe.

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 9.—Israel Zangwill, president of the Jewish Territorial organization, addressing a meeting last night on the furtherance of territorial organization, mentioned the fact that 300,000 Jews were returning from America during the coming winter owing to bad times.

Two Sentenced to Death.

Hahnville, La., Dec. 9.—Nicolina Gebbia and her brother, Leonardo, have been sentenced to death by hanging as accessories to the murder of Walter Lamana, an eight-year-old boy, last spring. The Gebbias took part in a plot by which the boy was kidnapped.

Many Fishermen Missing.

Palmpo, France, Dec. 9.—Three Newfoundland fishing vessels, with crews totalling 120 men, have been given up for lost as they have not reported since Oct. 1, when they left Miquelon.

Jasonville, Ind., Dec. 9.—Homer Swineham, a young man who is employed on the farm of Jacob Mayberry, two miles west of here, was attacked and so seriously injured by an enraged bull that his recovery is doubtful.

COUNTY NEWS

Glenwood.

The Sabbath Day ended in a copious shower.

Charles Andrews, of Steubenville, Ohio, has been calling on his many old friends. It has been seven years since he lived here and played with the little boys. He was one of those boys that was said to be tied to mother's apron strings. But while he was styled that name he has come up to be a very industrious young man and a successful tin worker. Success to you Charley in the future, even more than in the past.

Rev. James Gillespie preached a very strong sermon from the life of Daniel. His illustrations were vivid and to the point. The members were very much in hopes that a minister could not be secured for the remaining portion of the conference year so Bro. Gillespie could preach to them. All of his sermons were spiritual uplifts. It is to be hoped that he will be able to become a station and secure a minister equally as good if not better than Bro. Gillespie. The few sermons he delivered here were food to the hungry soul. Come again?

It seems like some of the churches or schools should give an entertainment at Xmas. We understand that none of the organizations have as yet planned to have any exercises.

Charles Fulton is contemplating a trip into Mexico. He will stop in Texas and probably Oklahoma. He expects to hunt. We wish him a pleasant journey and safe return.

Mingle & Reed have made an addition to their blacksmith shop. They have also made quite a raid on store boxes. They are manufacturing furniture such as dressers and men's cabinets.

Justus Rees has gone to Indianapolis to visit her granddaughter, Mrs. Lottie Strong until the holidays.

The supervisors election will be held in Union township on the 14th, between 10 a. m. and 12 m.

John Reed has returned from the springs much improved in health.

James Meek is going to Kansas City to purchase a car load of cattle.

The new M. E. minister Rev. Wall will move into Dr. Elliott's property and will be here this week. He comes very highly recommended, having been three years on his previous appointment. He will preach at Glenwood at 3 o'clock on Dec. 15th. Come out and hear him and help give him a hearty welcome.

THE GREATEST WEDDING.

Over Twenty Thousand Persons Were Married by One Ceremony.

The biggest wedding ever known to history was when Alexander the Great and over 10,000 of his soldiers took part in a wedding in the court of Darius, king of Persia, after the latter's conquest by Alexander. Twenty thousand two hundred and two persons were made husbands and wives in one ceremony.

The facts are these: After conquering King Darius, Alexander determined to wed Statira, daughter of the conquered king, and issued a decree that on that occasion 100 of his chief officers should marry 100 women from the noblest Persian and Median families. He further stipulated that 10,000 of his Greek soldiers should take to wife 10,000 Asiatic women.

For this purpose a vast pavilion was erected, the pillars being sixty feet high. One hundred gorgeous chambers adjoined this for the 100 noble bridegrooms, while for the 10,000 soldiers an outer court was inclosed. Outside of this tables were spread for the multitude.

Each pair had seats and ranged themselves in a semicircle round the royal throne. As it would have taken several weeks for the few priests to have married this vast number of couples had the ceremony been performed in the ordinary way, Alexander invented a simple way out of the difficulty.

He gave his hand to Statira and kissed her, and all the remaining bridegrooms did the same to the women beside them, and thus ended the ceremony that united the greatest number of people at one time ever known. Then occurred a five days' festival which for grandeur and magnificence never has since been equaled.

MAN AND HIS HORSE.

The Way to Show Approval That the Animal Will Appreciate.

Caress plays no small part in developing the best in any horse, but this is never to be by word of mouth. You may as well curse as bless for all your horse knows or cares. The caress of the hand addressed to the part with which the animal has just performed some feat is always appreciated—the expression shows that—and one loves to see a good man as he lands safe over a big place just reach back and give the clever horse a loving pat or two on that swelling muscular loin which has been the chief agent in negotiating the obstruction.

Do not pat neck or shoulder or any part not actively engaged in the undertaking. Caress may do no good, but it is pleasant to believe that it does, and we are quite positive that the voice simply diverts attention. The former mode of address is at least worthy of trial if only as a mark of appreciation between two gentlemen. The threatening tones appear sometimes serviceable, but this is so only when horses have been abused and associate punishment with the stern voice. The wild horse is as indifferent to the voice of affection as to that of rage.—From "Schooling the Hunter," by Frank M. Ware in Outing Magazine.

Drowned Manuscript.

James Russell Lowell, the first editor of the Atlantic, was walking across Cambridge bridge when his hat blew off and fell into the Charles with half a dozen or more manuscripts with which it was freighted and which he was returning to the Boston office. A boatman recovered the hat, but the scattered manuscripts perished in those waves of oblivion. "If they had been accepted articles, it wouldn't have been quite so bad, for," said he, "we might with some grace ask the writers for fresh copies. But how can you tell a self respecting contributor that his manuscript has been not only rejected, but sent to a watery grave?"—J. T. Trowbridge in Atlantic.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, DECEMBER 9, 1907.

James H. Hyde and other members of the old Equitable Insurance Co., offer to return more than a million dollars to the company if certain suits against them are dropped, all of which is a belated acknowledgment of crookedness.

June 16th is the date fixed for the Republican National Convention, and Chicago has been chosen as the place. The Windy city won by a vote of 31 against 18 for Kansas City. A call will now be issued to the various States to elect their delegates. This will virtually start activity in the field of politics all along the line.

In speaking of the United States as the home of the free and the refuge of the down-trodden, the phrase was used "the gates at Castle Garden swing inward." But the past few months these gates have been swinging outward. An unusual large number of foreign workmen who usually receive the appellation of "Hunys," have left our shores for their native country, and they have carried with them large amounts of money. A dispatch from St. Louis says that 3500 foreigners have left that city on account of the reduction of the forces in the various industries there, and it is estimated that these foreigners of St. Louis and suburbs sent over $3,500,000 back to Europe last year, besides what they took with them when they left. This money is wealth which has been earned, but is destroyed immediately so far as this country is concerned. And yet this influx of foreign workmen during a time when laborers are needed, and the return to their homes when they are not needed gives the labor market in this country great elasticity, and this country is spared from the great distress among the working classes during the time when work is scarce.

INDIANA POLITICS

BY ROBERT G. TUCKER

Indianapolis, December 9.—Carl Riddick, secretary of the Republican state committee has compiled a part of the material for the official call for the state convention showing the apportionment of delegates. The figures furnish an interesting study to politicians, as they indicate very plainly what the slump against the ticket a year ago cost. There will be one delegate in the convention for each 200 or fraction over 100 votes cast for Fred A. Sims for secretary of state. The shrinkage in the total of delegates amounts to 375. In the last convention there were 1,840—the largest number in the history of the party in Indiana. This time there will be 1,467. The winning candidates must receive 724 votes. Large counties like Marion, Allen, Vigo, Grant, Madison, Delaware, Vanderburgh and St. Joseph suffered most on account of the slump in the last election. Marion county has a larger vote than any other district, but the power of the other large counties to dictate has been curtailed.

The fight for control of the Democratic forces in this district will continue until it is settled in the convention. Taggart's followers are lined up for Bernard Korbly, and the anti-Taggart element, including James L. Keach, ex-Mayor John W. Holtzman and Sterling R. Holt, who were outspoken against Bryan in former campaigns, are backing Harry Bassett. It is said that the latter expects to vote for Risk if he wins out here. Korbly will stand with the Taggart men for Jackson. The indications are now that Korbly will win. Senator Carl Wood of Seymour has withdrawn from the race for the chairmanship of the Fourth district, leaving George Pleasant of Vevay, the present committeeman, a clear field. It would not be surprising if the new Democratic committee should be made up as follows: E. P. Richardson of Petersburg, First district; Alvin Padgett of Washington, Second; Mark Storen of Scottsburg, Third; George Pleasant of Vevay, Fourth; Gilbert McNutt of Terre Haute, Fifth; Stokes Jackson of Greenfield, Sixth; Bernard Korbly of Indianapolis, Seventh; Lew Ellingham of Decatur, Eighth; Michael Foley of Crawfordsville, Ninth; J. K. Risk of Lafayette, Tenth; Peter Coyle of Peru, Eleventh; Edward Huffman of Fort Wayne, Twelfth; S. N. Stevens of Plymouth, Thirteenth.

Wide publicity is being given to Secretary Wilson's statement regarding the long foretold lumber famine. This famine is no longer an object of merely future dread; it is here. It now costs 30 per cent more to build a frame house than it did six or seven years ago. The conservation of timber and reforestation in the various States is becoming an important question.

Portugal is a little kingdom down in the southwest corner of Europe, having so little association with the rest of the continent and so seldom visited by tourists that scarcely anyone thinks of it. But the prospect is that in the near future it will emerge from obscurity. Discontent has shown itself for some time and it has become more intense since the establishment of a dictatorship. The probability is that a revolution will soon take place and that the obese and gluttonous king will be driven from the throne. Not even remote and isolated Portugal can escape the onward march of freedom of thought and free government.

"Uncle" Joe Cannon is credited with the declaration that the motto of the present session of Congress shall be "Economy and Conservatism." Should this prove to be true the people will be with that same congress. Not pinching economy will be required, but the cutting off of all expenditures that are not clearly necessary, and not halting conservatism is asked, but at the same time a careful avoiding of emotionalism and everything that today would be regarded as radicalism. True conservatism just now is the most progressive thing that this country can adopt if we are to enjoy a progress that is to be permanent. This is not reaction, but the one thing most essential to prevent reaction.

Ulysses S. (Stokes) Jackson will be elected chairman of the Democratic state committee on January 8, unless there is a change in the present lineup of the party leaders. The followers of T. Taggart are setting the pins for Jackson as rapidly and firmly as possible and the indications are that they will win another bloodless and easy victory. There is nothing in the opposition of the J. Kirby Risk following as yet that is even alarming to the Taggart contingent, which is now convinced that Jackson will have three or four votes to spare. It begins to look as though the strength of the anti-Taggart element either has been exaggerated or that there is no one at its head with sufficient magnetism or skill to organize it into a formidable opposition. Taggart's opponents have been boasting that he would be turned down good and proper when the committee is reorganized, but there are no signs of a revolt against him in any of the thirteen congressional districts. He has not publicly endorsed Jackson, but the word has been passed down the line quietly among his followers that Jackson is their choice for the chairmanship. When the new committee meets the situation will have to undergo a radical change if Jackson is defeated.

Senator L. Ert Slack of Franklin is developing considerable strength as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. He is receiving many invitations to deliver addresses, which is pointed to as an evidence of his popularity with the people. During the four sessions he served in the legislature Senator Slack managed generally to be on the right side of every important public question. He is a fine orator and his friends declare that he has the elements of a strong candidate for governor. They believe that he will be acceptable to the masses of his party and that he will stand an excellent chance of landing the nomination. So far as the state organization is concerned it was stated by one of the party leaders today that it is not tied up to any prospective or avowed candidate for governor.

New candidates are coming to the front for places on the Democratic state ticket. It was reported today that James Duffin of Jeffersonville, who was formerly Third district chairman, will be a candidate for attorney general. Burt New of North Vernon is a candidate for clerk of the supreme and appellate courts, and Prof. Robert G. Ale of Bloomington will run for state superintendent of public instruction.

Republican "Want Ads" bring results.

COME HOME!
COME home, come home, and where is home for me,
Whose ship is driving o'er the trackless sea?
To the frail bark here plunging on its way.
To the wild waters shall I turn and say,
"You are my home?"
Fields once I walked in, faces once I knew,
Familiar things so old my heart believed them true.
These far, far back, behind me lie; before
The dark clouds mutter and the deep seas roar
And speak to them that 'neath and o'er them roam.
No word of home.

Beyond the clouds, beyond the waves that roar,
There may indeed or may be not a shore
Where fields are green and hands and hearts are true
The old forgotten semblance may renew.
And offer exiles driven far o'er the salt sea foam—
Another home.
But toil and pain must wear out many a day,
And days bear weeks, and weeks bear months away.
Ere, if at all, the weary traveler hear,
With accents whispered in his wayworn ear,
A voice he dares to listen to, say,
"Come to thy true home!"
Come home, come home! And where a home hath he Whose ship is driving o'er the driving sea?
Through clouds that mutter and o'er waves that roar,
Say, shall we find or shall we not a shore
That is, as is not ship or ocean foam.
Indeed our home?
—Arthur Hugh Clough.

CURRENT COMMENT

Graft in Canada.

A writer in the London periodical, Nineteenth Century and After, asserts that bribery and corruption among officials in Canada are the rule and not the exception. To quote:

Nowhere save among politicians themselves (and not always among them) is any attempt made to conceal the fact that Canadian politics is corrupt. It would be of little use to make the attempt, indeed. There have been so many revelations of crooked dealing that one might as well declare such tactics to be healthy which has an open sewer running through it.

So long as railway companies are in the thick of political warfare they will buy support in parliament if they can. One hears of members of the house of commons at Ottawa having their election expenses paid by corporations whose interests they are expected to advance. The same system prevails in the United States. Neither in the States nor in Canada is this considered disgraceful. Members of the imperial parliament are not altogether without sin in such matters, but the career of any M. P. known to be in the pay of a railway company would be quickly at an end.

In such ways as these the nation is robbed and the standard of public life degraded, and far too many are inclined to regard swindles of this kind merely as "smart business."

Recently the Montreal Gazette declared, "Every job alleged against the Russian autocracy has been paralleled in kind in Canada." This paper says that the Dominion is charged 40, 50 and 100 per cent advance on land bought for government purposes and that members of parliament get land at a dollar an acre and sell out to settlers at $6 and $8 an acre. One member is charged with crookedness in the matter of a government grazing land lease which he sold out for about 100 times its cost. Government inspection is a farce, and partisan supporters of the government are allowed to make "something for themselves at the expense of the country." In the same vein the Daily News-Advertiser of Vancouver says, "It cannot be denied that of late years a decadence has been visible in Canadian public life." Legislators seek office to secure emoluments or other advantages for themselves. Probably no nation under the sun where public progress is the order of the day can consistently throw stones at any other nation in this matter of graft. Exposure and punishment are the true remedies for the evil, and in this respect one nation can give a wholesome example to others in like straits.

The New Industrial City.

The failure of the town of Pullman as a semiphilanthropic enterprise to help workmen to good homes lends new interest to the industrial city of Gary, built by the United States Steel corporation for its workmen. When its population takes possession, says the Iron Trade Review, Gary will be as desirable a place of residence as a city of long and slow development. The Review continues:

In nearly every respect Gary will be unlike other industrial communities that have been built under similar conditions. There will be a marked absence of the hovels, dirt and squalor so pronounced a feature of most manufacturing cities, and the aspect of paternalism that characterizes the neighboring town of Pullman, with its rows of cheap cottages built on European lines and emphasizing the workman's limitations, will be entirely missing. Instead Gary is to be a city whose municipal cleanliness will be a leading virtue—a city of homes, each on its own lot and surrounded by its own lawn. Few houses in any block are alike, over fifty different designs having been employed to give architectural variety. The desire has been to make the residence streets of Gary resemble those of a city whose property owners had built to please their fancy, and marked success has been achieved. In the building of homes segregation has been practiced to a modified extent in order to bring together in neighborhoods the families most likely to be congenial.

An industrial city in this country is an experiment because the idea implies that once a shop hand always a shop hand. The American idea is to acquire a home and turn to less irksome and laborious employment. As

Railroads Have Too Many Masters.

By EDWARD P. RIPLEY, President of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway.

WHAT the railroads are opposed to is this VARIED ASSORTMENT OF RULES, REGULATIONS AND LAWS under which at present they must operate. For instance, the Santa Fe runs through fourteen states and territories, and what is legal in one state may be unlawful in another.

IN OTHER WORDS, WE HAVE TOO MANY MASTERS. WOULDN'T IT BE MUCH BETTER FOR US IF WE HAD A SINGLE, CENTRAL SOURCE OF REGULATION THAN SO MANY?

The outcry against the railroads has done them MUCH DAMAGE. This antagonism is by no means a thing of the past, as it exists today and is deep seated. The censure and attacks of the press and the UNJUST strictures from other sources have kept it alive. The result is that THE RAILROADS HAVE BEEN NEARLY RUINED. They are now worrying along as best they can. They cannot do anything but serve the public even if the public is attacking them.

at Pullman, the workmen at Gary will not own their homes.

Mme. Tetravini, who will sing a few times in this country for the trifling sum of $240,000, says she likes America very much. With an income like that in sight most of us would find language inadequate to express our admiration of the country.

A New York "capitalist" recently borrowed half a million on his house because he didn't want to affect business by taking the money out of the bank. The man who loaned him the currency, we suppose, took it out of his trousers pocket.

As radium is now worth about a million dollars an ounce, the news that the cost of production has been cheapened more than one-half will not cause any unanimous vote of thanks. It is still beyond the reach of not a few of us.

The New York Herald assures Mr. Roosevelt that if he accepts another term his popularity will melt away like snow in the hot sun, in which case there would be a sudden rise of water in the Potomac river.

Because some men get over a fence safely with a loaded gun it is not always safe to assume that they won't examine a mule's heels to settle a bet.

"Purchased fidelity is easily sold," soliloquizes the Baltimore American. In other words, the purchaser of "fidelity" is an easy mark.

Now is the time to write your congressman how to doctor up the finances of the country, and he wants to know.

Even the patient Germans have been listening to the Lorelei of frenzied finance.

TO SANTA CLAUS

(All the letters for this department should be addressed to "Santa Claus," care of Daily Republican.)

Dear Santa Claus,
Please bring me a hobby horse and a horn that goes around my head and some candy and a new bed and some more little Twinkle books.

Please take little cousin Daniel Greenlee a nice little ding-bell like Mrs. Arbuckle gave me one time. And I wish I had a whip with a whistle in the handle.

I guess Gordon Stevens wrote to you already, didn't he?

JOHN HUBBARD DAVIS.

324 W. First Street, Rushville, Ind.

Dear Santa
How are you? I want an english doll cab, a doll and two little books, The Little Knights of Kentucky, The Big Brother. I want an iron doll bed, from your little girl, DOROTHY MULNO.

Dear Santa Claus
Have wants one Violin and drum, and Big Drums and Little Fire Engine, and a little thing you wind up and any thing else you may have and candy and one of them things I had last Summer.

HAVIE BILL FRAZEE,
Main Street.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

"Now there's consistency for you," said a prominent local man Saturday as he ingeniously put a horse nail in his trousers attached to his suspenders, where a button had come off.

"What's matter?" inquired an on-looker.

"Why there's my wile down there to that Industrial school teaching little girls to sew, and half the buttons are off my clothes."

SOCIETY NEWS

Walter Looney and wife will entertain all their uncles and aunts at their home, east of this city, Thursday at dinner.

The social given at the Tabernacle hall was well attended Saturday night and is reported to be a great success in every particular.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert English entertained at dinner Sunday at their home in West First street, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, south of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mall and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Feudner, of this city.

Famous Painting Stolen.
Courtra, Belgium, Dec. 9.—One of Van Dyke's great masterpieces, "The Erection of the Cross," has been stolen from the church of Notre Dame. The thieves carefully cut off the canvas from the frame and carried it away. They are believed to have been experts, as special watchmen employed in guarding the treasures of the church, observed nothing.

THE OBITUARY OF LIVE MEN.

WILL C. MCCOLGIN

Let's Send the Flowers Over Now.—Dead Men Can Neither See, Smell or Appreciate.

Will McColgin came to Rushville with a buckeye in his pocket; not that he was afflicted with rheumatism, but it was the living emblem and seal of his native State, Ohio, the land of Buckeyes. But long ago he became acclimated and a genuine Hoosier; threw away his buckeye, started to say "over yonder," and he swears that if he is forgiven for being born in Ohio, he will never do it again.

For a young man, Will has seen many phases of life and conditions in this old world of ours. As a young man he worked in the circulating department of the Cincinnati Enquirer, which necessitated his being in the larger cities throughout the country when there was "anything on" like a national convention.

Finishing school at Georgetown, where General Grant worked in a tan yard, "little 'um" made a charge on Cincinnati with a determination to carve his name high up on his life's tree, where his fame would swell as the years rolled by. He secured a position as bookkeeper in a Turkish bath; but "mama" threw cold water on the new job when "her little man" told her where he was going to work, as she was packing cookies in his dinner pail on the eventful morning.

Later his folks removed to Cincinnati and he took up the study of law at a university there. It was there that his talent for public speaking first boomed into a reality. He was the Patrick Henry of his graduating class and the Cincinnati papers published his picture, predicting a bright future for him. Like young Lochinvar, he came out to the West and planted his banner on Rush county soil. Here he has fared well, at present being the deputy county clerk. It is but a few days since a deputy from the State auditor's office pronounced his books the best kept of any in the State. He is always genial and ever willing, and "dishes out" more questions on law—by phone—than any five lawyers in the city.

Mr. McColgin is always found on the firing line when the roar of the political cannons are heard, and has been Republican County Secretary for several years.

He is fond of hunting, but a poor shot, although he always keeps his powder dry. He learned to hunt while a member of the State Guard at Hamilton, Ohio, where they had target practice with blank cartridges. It was while a member of this organization that he gave evidence of possessing histrionic ability, holding down the "Tambo" end in their annual benefit minstrel. One of his jokes is said to have caused the mayor to resign, while another was instrumental in agitating the question of re-opening of the Erie canal (No, no, not to throw him in).

He only has one bad fault—story telling. Although one of the best story tellers in "these diggings," years ago he established a standard with the fund of good tales he brought with him, that has been difficult to main-

Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving day—practically the national harvest festival—began with the first settlers of Massachusetts. The earliest harvest thanksgiving in America was kept by the pilgrim fathers at Plymouth in 1621 and was repeated often during that and the following century. Congress recommended days of thanksgiving annually during the Revolution, and Washington appointed such a day in 1789, after the adoption of the constitution, and again in 1795, for the general benefit of the nation. Since 1863 the presidents have always issued proclamations appointing the last Thursday of November as the national Thanksgiving day.—New York American.

HE SAW THE SIGN.

Cause of the Smashup as Told by the Old Ducky Driver.

The old ducky was suing the railroad company for damages. The man contended that, not being warned by whistle or engine bell, he had started to drive his rig across the company's track when a shunted box car of said company crashed into his outfit, causing the death of the horse, loss of the wagon and minor injuries to himself. After the prosecution had closed its side of the case the company's lawyer called the old ducky to the stand and went at him.

"Mr. Lamson," he began, "your rig was struck by the box car in full daylight, was it not?"

"I tink dar was some clouds ovahead, suh," answered the caviling witness.

"Never mind the clouds! And only a few days before this accident the railroad company had put a new sign at that crossing?"

"Dar was a sign dar; yaas, suh!"

"And didn't that sign say: 'Stop! Look! Listen?'"

"Now, dar am de whole accusation ub de trouble!" declared the ducky, with animation. "If dat 'Stop' sign hadn't caught dis chile's eye jes' 's Ah war square on dat track, dar wouldn't 'a' been no smashup!"—Bohemian.

A Domestic Breakdown.

A well known lord discovered a thief in his London house. Aided by the butler, he secured the man and then rang the bell. A servant appeared, whom the peer requested to "go into the kitchen and bring up a policeman or two." The domestic returned and said there were no policemen on the premises. "What!" exclaimed his master in incredulous tones. "Do you mean to tell me that with a cook, two scullery maids, a kitchen maid and three housemaids in my employ there is no policeman in my kitchen? It is indeed a miracle, and our prisoner shall reap the benefit. Turner, let the man go instantly!"—London Standard.

True to Nature.

"Are you satisfied with your dentist?"

"Perfectly. He's a real artist. His false teeth are perfect jewels."

"Can't you tell the difference?"

"They are exact imitations of nature. There is even one that's so good an imitation that it aches sometimes."

—Paris Journal.

Many Sides.

"That's the way the thing was told to me, but of course there's always more than one side to a story."

"Of course. There are always as many sides to a story as there are people to blame."—Philadelphia Press.

In the Fog

By Richard Harding Davis

Illustrated by Parker

A story in which the famous author is at his best. In a word, every paragraph is literature. The plot is original, and in its unfoldment all the chords of human emotion are played upon. It is a narrative of intrigue most subtle, murder most foul, love most loyal, and permeating all a mystery most perplexing. Its ending, however, is delightfully surprising, and the reader is kept in suspense till the last line is read.

By REX E. BEACH.

Copyright, 1905, by Rex E. Beach.

"I believe I understand," he murmured, "and perhaps it's better so." He took her two soft hands in his one good right and kissed them. "God bless you and keep you, dear, brave little Cherry."

She stood straight and still as he melted into the shadows, and only the moonlight heard her pitiful sob and her hopeless whisper:

"Goodby, my boy, my boy."

He wandered down beside the sea, for his battle was not yet won, and until he was surer of himself he could not endure the ribaldry and rejoicing of his fellows. A welcome lay waiting for him in every public place, but no one there could know the mockery of it, no one could gauge the desolation that was his.

The sand, wet, packed and hard as a pavement, gave no sound to his careless steps, and thus it was that he came silently upon the one woman as she stood beside the silver surf. Had he seen her first he would have slunk past in the landward shadows, but, recognizing his tall form, she called and he came, while it seemed that his lungs grew suddenly constricted, as though bound about with steel hoops. The very pleasure of her sight pained him. He advanced eagerly, and yet with hesitation, standing stiffly aloof while his heart fluttered and his tongue grew dumb. At last she saw his bandages and her manner changed abruptly. Coming closer she touched them with caressing fingers.

"It's nothing—nothing at all," he said while his voice jumped out of all control. "When are you—going away?"

"I do not know—not for some time."

He had supposed she would go tomorrow with her uncle and—the other, to be with them through their travail.

With warm impetuosity she began: "It was a noble thing you did today. Oh, I am glad and proud."

"I prefer you to think of me in that way, rather than as the wild beast you saw this morning, for I was mad, perfectly mad with hatred and revenge, and every wild impulse that comes to a defeated man. You see, I had played and lost, played and lost, again and again, till there was nothing left. What mischance brought you there? It was a terribly brutal thing, but you can't understand."

"But I can understand. I do. I know all about it now. I know the wild rage of desperation; I know the exultation of victory; I know what hate and fear are now. You told me once that the wilderness had made you a savage, and I laughed at it just as I did when you said that my contact with big things would teach me the truth, that we're all alike, and that those motives are in us all. I see now that you were right and I was very simple. I learned a great deal last night."

"I have learned much also," said he. "I wish you might teach me more."

"I—I—don't think I could teach you any more," she hesitated.

He moved as though to speak, but held back and tore his eyes away from her.

"Well?" she inquired, gazing at him covertly.

"Once, a long time ago, I read a lover's petition, and ever since knowing you I have made the constant prayer that I might be given the purity to be worthy the good in you and that you might be granted the patience to reach the good in me, but it's no use. But at least I'm glad we have met on common ground, as it were, and that you understand, in a measure. The prayer could not be answered; but through it I have found myself and I have known you. That last is worth more than a king's ransom to me. It is a holy thing which I shall reverence always, and when you go you will leave me lonely except for its remembrance."

"But I am not going," she said. "That is—unless—"

Something in her voice swept his gaze back from the shimmering causeway that rippled seaward to the rising moon. It brought the breath into his throat, and he shook as though seized by a great fear.

"Unless—what?"

"Unless you want me to."

"Oh, God! don't play with me!" He flung out his hand as though to stop her while his voice died out to a supplicating hoarseness. "I can't stand that."

"Don't you see? Won't you see?" she asked. "I was waiting here for

"Don't you see? Won't you see, my pagan?"

the courage to go to you since you have made it so very hard for me, my pagan." With which she came close to him, looking upward into his face, smiling a little, shrinking a little, yielding yet withholding, while the moonlight made of her eyes two bottomless, boundless pools, dark with love, and brimming with the promise of his dreams.

THE END.

AMUSEMENTS

The sacred drama founded on the life of Christ to be shown at the Vaudeville tonight, Tuesday, Wednesday and Wednesday afternoon is one of the finest hand colored films made and shows one the scenery of the early days. Every parent and Sunday school teacher should take advantage of the opportunity to see the life moving picture of our Savior and the multitude. The impersonator of Christ considers his part an act of worship. He and all the rest of his performers are selected for their holy life.

At the Grand theatre the offering for tonight and tomorrow night consists of absolutely the "biggest novelty" hand-colored Pathe French subject ever shown in this city in the history of moving pictures, barring none, entitled "The Pearl Diver;" in this subject will be seen—the diver making the plunge into the bay, going down, of the sea, encountering the monsters of the deep, meeting the M. r. maids and many other very interesting and realistic scenes. As this is absolutely new, being one of the latest subjects out, to miss it truly means to miss a rare treat in the moving picture line.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Still Clings to the Salary List. Read This and Wonder Why. An eastern scribe has discovered that Tyus Cobb of Detroit did not bat a .352 average last year, as claimed by the American league expert statistician. "Cobb batted ONLY .350," wails the scribe.

Think of a man on a major league team batting ONLY .350. That is surely reprehensible. Cobb ought to be traded off to the Digby (N. S.) Alerts or sentenced to six weeks without food on the Llano Estacado.

"Boshter Bill" Squires' admirers in Australia still have confidence in Bill's ability to make good. Apparently there is something in the saying, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." Maybe we'd think more of Bill if he was 7,000 miles away.

The invulnerable goal line has departed to the happy hunting ground along with the bustle, the low price of beef and other relics of the ancients.

President Roosevelt saw a couple of Japs in a wrestling bout some time ago, but he won't know the game in this country until he sees a good old American fake.

J. Cantillon has already landed two "phenoms." They are said to be non-explosive.

CHRISTMAS CARDS and FOLDERS.

Only 16 Days Until Christmas!

—it don't seem possible that 340 days have elapsed since last Christmas, but it has though. My, but don't time fly!

—well, I hope you have made lots of money this year. It has been a banner year for many people.

—also hope you are figuring on buying some nice things for your friends, to brighten and lighten their hearts at Yuletide.

—well, if you do, don't experiment on the proper location of the store to buy at.

—call at my place first and you will be surprised at the dandy things I carry in stock for Christmas—the choicest things from New York, Boston and Chicago. Dandy goods and useful too. Not expensive either.

—let me enumerate a few of them for you:

Sherman Grigby, of Morristown, arrested on a charge of selling mortgaged property, was given his freedom Saturday, the charges being dismissed. The case was compromised by relatives.

Rushville parties who attended the automobile show in Chicago last week, were forcibly struck with the several makes of autos shown that retail for $350. It won't be many years until the factory hands living in Circleville will go to work in their own machine.

Various merchants who have been advertising in the Daily Republican during the past week were asked for a statement concerning Saturday's business. Without a single dissenting voice every one had a glowing account of the business done Saturday. It was a good day for all lines. Many of the purchasers bought Christmas goods, while others bought staple lines.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are Agents for Parisian Sage and We Know the Guarantee is Genuine. F. B. Johnson & Co.

Parisian Sage, the quick acting hair restorer is guaranteed—

To stop falling hair
To cure Dandruff
To cure itching of the scalp
To put life into faded hair
To make harsh hair soft and luxuriant
To make hair grow or money back
What Parisian Sage did for Chas. S. Baker, it will do for you. Read the following:

"I was so bald and such a shinning mark for my friends that I, as a last resort, tried your Parisian Sage (after trying several bottles of the highly advertised and high-priced so called hair restorers) and I am glad to say I now have a heavy growth of new hair. I am now 44 years old and I have a heavy growth of new hair after carrying my shinning mark for over seven years. I gladly recommend Parisian Sage to all afflicted with baldness." Chas. S. Baker, 491 Main St., East, Rochester, N. Y.

It is the most delightful hair dressing made, and is a great favorite with ladies who desire beautiful and luxuriant hair. Price 50 cents a bottle at F. B. Johnson & Company or by mail charges prepaid from Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
